You might not expect a small town to offer world-class amenities. You likely don't expect an upscale dining experience, or a meal prepared by an acclaimed culinary team. You may be surprised to learn you can stay in a restored guest house from the 1900s and spend the day relaxing at a boutique spa. You wouldn't expect to shop for gifts made by local artists from around the state, or to find natural, sustainably produced bath products that are made on-site. Yet when you visit Stanford, Kentucky, you experience the unexpected.

What began as a mission to bring life back to Stanford's downtown has created a one-of-a-kind destination for visitors to enjoy the simple pleasures of a small town without sacrificing the amenities of a larger urban area. Visit us in Stanford, Kentucky, and be welcomed with thoughtful hospitality and surprised by the excellence we are known for.

Unexpected Flavors

BLUEBIRD

Our restaurant was founded on the belief that food should be healthy for your body, beneficial to the community and leave a positive impact on our world. We source our ingredients from local growers and ethical meat producers, providing good food that you can feel good about. With a long resume of experience and a variety of regional flavors, our culinary team brings upscale and creative offerings to the Bluebird menu. There is an option for all tastes, from the Pimento Cheese Burger to the award-winning Pear Salad.

Soaps & Such

This shop offers unique hand-crafted goods from local artisans around the state. Our Plainview Farm goat milk bath products are made on-site, and the captivating scents fill the store. While many of our items are locally and regionally made, we also carry products made by artisans from around the world. You can sample natural skincare made with goat milk from a farm a few miles away or find a leather purse made in Ethiopia. Pick out greeting cards from local artists to send to friends back home or shop for new books from local authors. Kentucky Soaps & Such offers wonders you won't expect.
